

2019 Trade Ally Participation Agreement

New Home Construction Program

Together we can help customers save energy and money!

Consumers Energy offers a portfolio of programs to promote energy efficiency, incorporating both rebates and energy education. The residential Consumers Energy New Home Construction Program offers financial incentives to participating Trade Allies for achieving ENERGY STAR® certification or HERS Index Score of 56 or lower in eligible new homes.

Contractors interested in participating in the residential Consumers Energy New Home Construction Rebate Program must complete this Trade Ally Participation Agreement.

Important: The information completed in the “Builder Information” section of the Trade Ally Participation Agreement will be the information included in the Trade Ally Directory. By signing this Trade Ally Agreement, you are agreeing that you have been trained on the program and will offer it to your customers. Trade Allies will be removed from the program for non-compliance.

Getting Started

To participate in this program, builders will need to follow these steps:

1. Submit this Trade Ally Participation Agreement. You will only need to do this once.
2. Submit the Rebate Application.
3. We recommend that you incorporate ENERGY STAR considerations in your build as early as possible to qualify for the ENERGY STAR rebate or to ensure you achieve a HERS Index Score of 56 or lower. This would ideally start in the planning and design phase. You will need to work with a Home Energy Rater and an ENERGY STAR accredited mechanical contractor. If this is your first ENERGY STAR certification, your Consumers Energy New Home Account Manager can help you get started.

Trade Ally Participation Terms & Conditions:

This Trade Ally Participation Agreement is between the listed contractor and Consumers Energy. This agreement defines the terms under which the Trade Ally agrees to participate in the New Home Construction Program.

Consumers Energy agrees to offer the following:

- Information sessions for participating Trade Allies on program procedures, requirements and qualifying equipment specifications.
- Rebates to eligible Trade Allies as filed with the Michigan Public Service Commission (and as funds are available).

Through a Consumers Energy sponsored website, ConsumersNewHomeConstruction.com, Trade Allies can have their company name and certain information linked to an approved website directory ("Web Directory") of residential builders. Subject to the terms and conditions herein. Therefore, in consideration of the mutual promises contained herein and the mutual benefit to be obtained, the parties agree as follows:

- Trade Allies' contact information will be placed on the participating Trade Ally list on the Consumers Energy New Home Construction website for customers once the Trade Ally Participation Agreement is complete.
- All Trade Allies acknowledge and agree that Consumers Energy provides the list of ENERGY STAR providers solely for informational purposes. Consumers Energy makes no warranty of any kind whatsoever, including, without limitation, the warrant of merchant-ability or fitness for a particular purpose.
- Under no circumstance or legal theory, whether as a result of a breach of contract, warranty or tort (including negligence, strict liability or otherwise), will Consumers Energy be liable to any Trade Allies for any indirect, special, consequential, punitive or exemplary damages. License, insurance and bonding shall remain the sole responsibility of the Trade Allies.
- The relationship between Consumers Energy and all Trade Allies shall be that of owner and independent contractor, and all Trade Allies hereby further agree that nothing shall operate to change or alter such relationship. Trade Allies shall have no actual or apparent authority to bind, represent or work on behalf of Consumers Energy and may not represent or imply such authority through word or use of any Consumers Energy logo, trademark or service mark (including logos, trademarks or service marks of Consumers Energy's parent or affiliates).
- Trade Allies shall comply with all applicable laws and codes. Failure of any Trade Ally to comply with applicable laws, codes or Consumers Energy guidelines or any failure to resolve customer concerns may (in Consumers Energy's sole discretion) lead to such Trade Ally's removal from the program.

Trade Ally status does not imply a utility endorsement of the contractor in any way; rather, it simply provides a way to identify those contractors who have completed the required program training and are committed to offer high-efficiency homes to their customers as well as actively promote the program.

Trade Ally agrees to perform the following:

- Follow all directives as outline in this Trade Ally Participation Agreement.
- For all installations, accurately record certification and document detail required on the Consumers Energy New Home Construction Rebate Application form (available at ConsumersNewHomeConstruction.com). Misrepresentation of home certification will not be accepted. Trade Allies found in violation of this or any of the terms of the agreement and/or policies and procedures will be subject to removal or restricted program participation.
- Hold and maintain required licenses and insurance coverage while participating in the program.
- Provide permit numbers or a copy of the submitted permit application upon request.
- Install all qualifying equipment for which incentives are provided in a professional manner, consistent with industry standards, and in conformance with all applicable building codes, zoning laws, local, state and federal requirements and other relevant requirements.
- Maintain and retain accurate business records relating to the installation of qualifying equipment according to customary industry practice for at least one year following home completion.
- Submit all paperwork including Rebate Application, HERS Certificate and Michigan Federal Minimum Equipment comparative fuel summary report on all certified new homes.
- Contractor may not use Consumers Energy New Home Construction Program promotional materials (including Consumers Energy logo) without the express written consent of Consumers Energy.

Confidentiality Agreement: All information, including invoicing data to Consumers Energy, will be kept confidential within the Consumers Energy utility rebate program and will only be used in aggregate form, as required, by the Michigan Public Service Commission and for associated evaluation, measurement and verification purposes.
